PRESIDENT IS SCORED

Senator Tillman Declares He Did
Not Do His Duty

IN MORRIS EPISODE

While Implying Colleagues to "Do
Their Duty and Teach Country's Executive a Lesson" He Wept at Times.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The recent forcible removal from the white house of Mrs. Minor Morris was made the subject of emphatic denunciation by Mr. Tillman in the senate Wednesday. His remarks called out remonstrations from Messrs. Hale, Hopkins and Daniel and led to the very abrupt closing of the doors and the sudden adjournment of the senate in the middle of the afternoon. The speech abounded in Mr. Tillman's peculiar expressions and was characterized by many severe and exceptionally personal thrusts at the president. At times he wept over what he regarded as the indignities to the lady and his voice and eyes were full of tears when he declared in the face of protests from his fellow senators that he would demand an investigation of the white house incident.

The reference to the treatment of Mrs. Morris constituted the latter half of a speech based on the senator's resolution making inquiry of the president regarding the status of our relations with the republic of Santo Domingo and was added to illustrate his theory that the present administration is tending toward imperialism. In the first part of the address he characterized the course of the United States in Santo Domingo as a great extension of the Monroe Doctrine and said if pursued the policy would lead the country into many serious complications. He accused the president of putting the treaty into execution in the face of the senate's refusal to act, denounced the senate as willing to submit subversively to all that is asked of it and implored senators to show their independence and teach the country's executive a lesson and at the same time serve the country.

With reference to the Morris occurrence he declared that the president had been derelict in failing to punish his subordinates for their course and quoted statements from persons said to have been witnesses to show that the proceeding had been inhuman. He informally presented and said he would later present a resolution for the investigation of the entire incident. It was the introduction of this resolution which called out the protest from Mr. Daniel, while Mr. Hale objected to the presentation of the matter at all, except upon proof. Mr. Tillman declared his intention not to be guided by their advice and closed with the reiteration of his determination to bring in the resolution. The announcement occasioned a number of hurried conferences, and it is understood that as a result of them Mr. Tillman will be urged not to carry out his purpose.

Mr. Tillman quoted extracts from the last annual message of the president. He laid stress upon the president's decision that "no just and orderly government has anything to fear from us."

"Is the converse true that an unjust and disorderly government has something to fear from us?" Mr. Tillman asked, "because if it is therein lies an immense amount of trouble for this country."

It meant, he said, that the president intended to set up a standard and compel the South American nations to adhere to it. Proceeding with his quotations from the president's message, Mr. Tillman contended that it would not benefit the country "to wrench and stretch the Monroe doctrine beyond all precedent. It will not benefit us to step forward on every pretext with a policeman's club to enforce the claims of bond-holders. That is the sum and substance of the new departure."

Mr. Culberson interrupted Mr. Tillman to read an extract from a letter which he said had been written by Secretary Hay in which the secretary was reported to have said the rejection of the Dominican treaty would work "no great disaster."

His purpose, Mr. Culberson said, was to "contrast the secretary's utterances with that of the president."

Mr. Tillman quoted the executive order of March 23 establishing a modus vivendi, and speaking of the meaning of the expression "modus vivendi" he defined it as "a little rope by which you hang on to life till you get loose or are entirely hung."

He declared that there had been coercion in enforcing that order and "that Morales and his junta of cut-throats" had not accepted its terms until compelled to do so by Mr. Dawson.

Speaking of Morales' flight, Mr. Tillman said that he expected to hear of him next as holding a position on the Panama canal. "Would not that be glorious?" he asked.

It was just at that moment that Secretary Taft who had been conversing through the door behind Mr. Tillman, and there was a titter in the senate which Mr. Tillman did not understand.

CULBERSON'S RESOLUTION.

Senate Adopts Matter Offered by the Lone Star Senator.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Resolution offered by Senator Culberson relative to the ownership by Philippine officials of land in the Philippines was adopted by senate.

As passed it calls upon the secretary of war to supply the senate with information as to whether any member of the Philippine committee or any officer of the army or navy of the United States owns interest in any lands in the island. The secretary is also directed to say where such land is situated, particularly as to the location of proposed railroads in said islands.

moving four and one-half knots an hour. It was more than 3,000 miles from the local station. The officials say that this breaks all records for a long distance wireless telegraph in the country, the best previous showing having been the receipt of a message at Colon, Panama, from a distance of 2,600 miles.

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION.

Former Senator Hill Insists That Matter Be Looked Into.

Albany, Jan. 18.—At the annual meeting of the State Bar association here former United States Senator David B. Hill demanded an investigation by the association of the circumstances connected with the annual retainer of $5,000 paid to him by the Equitable Life Assurance society as brought out in the investigation by the legislative life insurance investigating committee, of which Senator Armstrong was chairman. Senator Hill made an extended speech, in which he explained the nature of the services which he had rendered to the Equitable in return for his retainer. He asserted that the appointment as counsel for the Equitable was welcome, though unsolicited, and that he earned every dollar received. During his thirty years of political life, Senator Hill declared, he had never mixed politics and business, and left the office of governor poorer than when he entered it.

Mr. Hill remarked upon the fact that while Elihu Root, also receiving retainers from the Equitable, he was never called to explain. He pointed out that all but two of the executive investigators, including their counsel, were of a political faith opposed to his own, but disclaimed intention to imputing political motives.

FALLIERIES ELECTED.

Head of the French Senate Is Now
Chief Executive.

HE DEFEATS DOUMER

It Was Unnecessary to Take More
Than One Ballot, There Being
Only Two of the Candidates Voted For.

Paris, Jan. 18.—The national assembly met at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the congress hall of the royal palace at Versailles for the election of a president of the republic. The assembly consists nominally of 851 deputies and 300 senators, but owing to death, illness and the passage of some deputies to the senate, leaving seats vacant, the number present decreased to about 660, making 430 votes necessary to elect the new president. The greatest interest manifested in the proceedings.

Members of the assembly voted in alphabetical order. Those waiting their turn discussed excitedly the prospects of their favorites. Although several candidates were mentioned in succession to M. Loubet, including M. Fallieries, president of the senate; M. Doumer, president of the chamber of deputies; M. Sarrien, former minister of justice, and M. Leon Bourgeois, former premier, the real contest was between Fallieries and Doumer. M. Fallieries had the general support of Advanced Socialist and Radical groups, constituting the famous party which sustained Combes. M. Doumer, however, was a formidable opponent, whose election to the presidency of the chamber of deputies last year, after breaking away from his former connection with the famous party previously referred to, gave the first blow to M. Combes. Liberal Republican, belonging to the Center and Conservative, who then voted for M. Doumer, still seemed inclined to continue their allegiance. According to the lobby of the gossip there did not seem to be any likelihood on this occasion of surprise in the shape of a candidate appearing at the last moment and upsetting all plans made, as was the case when the late Sadi Carnot was elected president on the second ballot, securing an unexpected majority over the then favorite, the late M. Ferry. A double ballot also occurred when the late Felix Faure defeated M. Brisson, former premier.

Fallieries was elected. Fallieries, 446; Doumer, 371.

PUBLICLY DISMISSED.

Midshipmen Sever All Connection
With Naval Academy.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 18.—At noon Wednesday, when the naval brigades of midshipmen paraded for regular dinner formation, Midshipman Peterson Barto Mason of Pensacola and W. W. Foster of New Albany, Ind., first classmen, and Treasurer Coffin, Jr., of the third class, were publicly dismissed from the United States navy for having pleaded, or fourth classmen. The order of the secretary of the navy was a short one and in each case addressed personally to the midshipman directly concerned.

The trial of Midshipman Minor Meriwether, Jr., on a charge of hazing, was resumed Wednesday. A long time was occupied in verification of the large record of Tuesday's proceedings. Midshipman Meriwether continued his defense on charge of hazing. A number of members of the fourth class testified that Meriwether treated them with consideration; that he acted towards them in a friendly and good natured manner. It was made clear by the line adopted by the defense that Meriwether is anxious to relieve his name from the opprobrium of cruelty.

The directors of the Field museum of natural history have ordered the institutions closed all day Friday. Attaches of the museum will wear badges of mourning for thirty days.

Persons have several cases against him and the bond is $500 each. There is much interest in the cases.
